1. The Charts at a Glance

Member	Day Master	Four Pillars	Strength	Favorable Element	Supporting Element	Unfavorable Element	Dominant class
Harish	Sin	Im Shin·Eul Sa·Sin Hae·Gi Chuk	Balanced	Water	Metal	Fire	Companion (compare rob) / Output (food hurt) / Resource
Sruthi	Bing	Gye Yu·Gap Ja·Bing In·Gi Chuk	Balanced	Earth	Fire	Water	Output (food hurt) / Authority (officer star)
Pawan	Bing	Sin Mi·Jeong Yu·Bing O·Gyeong Ja	Balanced	Water	Metal	Fire	Companion (compare rob)

The Day Master is the reference point; the favorable element is what each chart needs, and the dominant ten-god class is how each person naturally works.

2. Pairwise Partnership Compatibility

Each pair is scored by the engine's 11 Compatibility sub-systems. This is the engine's own compatibility engine; a high score means the two charts interact smoothly, not that they should marry or partner — trust and friction are read from the day-branch (spouse/palace) and the luck-pillar synchrony in particular. In every pair, A = the first name in the heading (the reference chart) and B = the second.

3. Element & Role Coverage — Who Supplies What

A small founding team needs five functions: a planner (Wood), a public face (Fire), an operator/asset-holder (Earth), a quality/finance anchor (Metal) and an audience/communication/regulatory function (Water). The table below maps each member to the functions their chart naturally supplies, from their Favorable Element/Supporting Element and dominant class.

Member	Supplies (favorable function)	Works as (dominant-class role)
Harish	Water — Audience / communication / regulation / flow — the information and market layer · Metal — Quality / finance / structure / compliance — the refining discipline	Companion (compare rob): network / team lead — relationships, peers, coalition-building; Output (food hurt): product / craft lead — what the venture makes and says; Resource: research / advisory lead — depth, credentials, the knowledge base
Sruthi	Earth — Operator / producer / asset-holder — the tangible base and delivery · Fire — Leader / public face / brand charisma — the visible, energising front	Output (food hurt): product / craft lead — what the venture makes and says; Authority (officer star): institution / structure lead — process, rank, accountability
Pawan	Water — Audience / communication / regulation / flow — the information and market layer · Metal — Quality / finance / structure / compliance — the refining discipline	Companion (compare rob): network / team lead — relationships, peers, coalition-building

The Coverage Gap

- Wood is not supplied by any member's Favorable Element/Supporting Element — Planner / brand-story / learning — long-horizon growth and design

Covered by the group: Earth, Fire, Metal, Water. Missing: Wood.

A missing function is not fatal — it is a hiring brief. The classical caution is to staff, not to force, the gap.

4. Domain Fit — Where the Group Can Actually Operate

Each member's ranked career domains come from their own Favorable Element/Supporting Element. Best Fit = directly aligned; Good Fit = supportive breadth.

Member	Best-Fit domains	Good-Fit domains (incl. Best)
Harish	Strategy & Consulting, Diplomacy & International Business, Arts & Curation, Journalism & Investigation	Strategy & Consulting, Diplomacy & International Business, Arts & Curation, Journalism & Investigation, Logistics & Shipping, Law & Governance, Engineering & Technology
Sruthi	Real Estate & Property, Hospitality & Food, Finance & Accounting, Project Management	Real Estate & Property, Hospitality & Food, Finance & Accounting, Project Management, Agriculture & Land, Mediation & Counselling, Leadership & Executive Roles
Pawan	Strategy & Consulting, Diplomacy & International Business, Arts & Curation, Journalism & Investigation	Strategy & Consulting, Diplomacy & International Business, Arts & Curation, Journalism & Investigation, Logistics & Shipping, Psychology & Counseling, Law & Governance

Overlap Analysis

No domain is a Good-or-better fit for every member at once. This is the central structural fact of the group: the members' favorable families do not overlap completely, so a venture cannot be 'one person's top domain' and expect the others to be equally aligned — each member contributes a function, not a shared domain label.

- Harish $\cap$ Sruthi: no shared Good-fit domain — they complement through roles, not a common domain.
 - Harish $\cap$ Pawan: Arts & Curation, Diplomacy & International Business, Journalism & Investigation, Law & Governance, Logistics & Shipping, Strategy & Consulting (the pairing that shares the most domain-fit)
 - Sruthi $\cap$ Pawan: no shared Good-fit domain — they complement through roles, not a common domain.

5. Venture Shapes That Fit the Group

Because no single domain fits all members, the viable ventures are element blends — each member supplies the function their chart naturally carries. Two shapes survive scrutiny from the data above:

Venture A — Asset-backed operations (Earth base + Metal finance + Fire face)

- Earth base (operator / asset-holder): Sruthi — real assets, hospitality, property, agri-land, delivery operations.
- Metal finance / quality anchor: Harish, Pawan — unit economics, compliance, contracts, audit.
- Fire face / leadership: Sruthi — the public face, deal-closing, brand energy, leadership.

This is the shape the group's elements most naturally support: a tangible, income-generating base run with disciplined finance and a visible front.

Venture B — Advisory / strategy / logistics (Water + Metal, audience-facing)

- Water strategy / communication: Harish, Pawan — consulting, research, information, trade, logistics, media.
- Metal structure: Harish, Pawan — methodology, quality, finance. This shape leans on the members whose favorable families are Water/Metal; a member whose favorable family is Earth/Fire is the audience/leadership contributor here, not the technical lead.

Honest limitation: neither shape is a natural top-fit for every member. Whichever is chosen, at least one founder is operating outside their Best-Fit domain and must accept a functional (not equal-fit) role — see §6.

6. Role Assignment

Roles follow each member's dominant class (how they work) and favorable element (what they supply), not seniority. Seats are allocated distinctly — two members who both run on Water/Metal are differentiated by their dominant class, not given the same chair.

Member	Dominant class	Favorable function	Recommended seat	Watch-out
Harish	Companion (compare rob) / Output (food hurt) / Resource	Water/Metal	Strategy / business development / communications	spreads thin across too many streams — pick a lane
Sruthi	Output (food hurt) / Authority (officer star)	Earth/Fire	Operations / asset & property lead	avoid over-concentration in slow, illiquid assets
Pawan	Companion (compare rob)	Water/Metal	Business development / partnerships / network lead	spreads thin across too many relationships — pick a lane

7. Five-Year Luck-Cycle Effect on the Venture

Reading the Windows

- Full three-way alignment: 2041–2042 — every member's cycle is favorable. This is the strongest strategic window in the horizon; plan major commitments around it.
- Workable years (nobody challenged): 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060.
- Recommended action windows: 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033 — sequence launches, fundraising and expansion into these.

The per-member five-year detail (the five annual pillars, wealth/business/family/investment notes in each block) is in each member's own luck-cycle report.

8. What Is Missing

Stated plainly — these are the group's structural gaps, not cosmetic observations.

- Wood function absent (Planner / brand-story / learning — long-horizon growth and design): hire or partner this in; do not improvise it.
- Shared-money risk (peer-drains-wealth) is the top internal hazard. 2 of 3 members (Harish, Pawan) carry three or more Companion stems. The classical reading is that the Companion class competes for the same Wealth — financial loss and partnership breakdown, especially where money is shared: family businesses, pooled investments, informal lending among peers.
- Capital depth. No member is Wealth-dominant — the funding call is a business problem, not a chart strength. The Companion-heavy charts also raise the cost of shared capital.
- A single decisive leader. All members read balanced rather than strong; the Fire/public-face seat is the closest to a natural leader, but decision-rights must be written, not assumed.
- Conflict management. The red flags in §2 (day-branch clash/Hae (Pig) and one broken day-stem combination) are the specific fault lines; name them in the operating agreement before money moves.

Structural Mitigations

- Put roles and ownership percentages in writing before any money moves; the sibling and spouse pairings make informal assumptions likely.

- Keep separate accounts; never commingle personal, family and venture funds.
- Earn through a structured product or service with clear pricing, not informal arrangements.
- Prefer hard-boundary roles over loosely-shared P&L; the group can collaborate without a shared wallet.
- Treat any Companion/Unfavorable Element decade (see each member's luck-cycle report) as a period to defend rather than expand shared commitments.

9. Verdict

Pair	Score	Band
Harish × Sruthi	95/100	Excellent
Harish × Pawan	71/100	Strong
Sruthi × Pawan	50/100	Mixed

Are they a good business group? The pairwise data says: the bond is real and the elements are complementary, but it is a group that must be structured, not a group that can be left informal. Every pair shows a hard red flag in the palace/branch layer while the combined element balance is strong in all three pairs — the charts want to work together and will also rub where it matters most (money and authority).

- Strengths: complementary element roles; strong combined-element balance in every pairing; at least one clear alignment window (see §7).
- Weaknesses: a shared-money red flag from the Companion-heavy charts; no shared Best-Fit domain; no all-favorable year in the near horizon; specific branch clash/harm fault lines between each pair.
- The single most actionable insight: decide the venture's one shared domain and one person's decisive seat in writing before capital moves — the charts support the work, and the risk is entirely in the shared-money governance.
